Instructional Technology Plan -Annually -2026

B. Instructional Technology Vision and Goals

1. Please provide the district mission statement.

Inspire and nurture students in the pursuit of knowledge that will enable them to make good life choices.

2. Please provide the executive summary of the instructional technology plan, including vision and goals.

Putnam Central School is a rural Pre K - 6 public school district located in northern Washington County, New York. It has an elementary student population of around 50 students. Every student at Putnam Central School receives individual attention to his/her academic strengths and needs.

The program is a comprehensive academic curriculum which is regularly enhanced by instruction in physical education, art and music. Speech therapy and psychological services are also regularly provided for all students. Special needs students are included in the mainstream classrooms. The school makes frequent use of community resources.

Putnam Central School has had exceptional academic achievement as demonstrated by performance on the New York State Assessment Tests in Reading, Writing and Mathematics and the Program Evaluation Tests in Science and Social Studies. The faculty and staff create a unique school community in which the school climate is positive and supportive of all students.

During the 1995 1996 academic year the district first embarked upon the development of this Technology Plan. Its implementation has ensured that the students of Putnam Central School have access to the information resources which are available through the latest technology. Every classroom has ample access to the Internet. The teachers have been trained in the use of digital cameras, internet search engines, and the use of PC converters for television to enable the use of united video streaming through outside sources. The school has installed a state of the art projector and large screen for presentations by staff and students in the gymnasium/stage area.

The future technology with which Putnam Central School students will interact as they move onto higher education and the world of work seems endless. The entire Putnam community will know, however, that their children will be prepared to be lifelong learners in the developing information age. Through the integration of new technology into every classroom, the Putnam Central School supports its mission.

3. Please summarize the planning process used to develop the instructional technology plan. Please include the stakeholder groups participating and outcomes of the instructional technology plan development meetings.

Putnam uses a technology committee to develop goals and objectives for the instructional technology planning within the district. Teachers, parents, administrative staff, library media specialist and computer technology employees are part of the committee. Recommendations are submitted to the office of the Superintendent for review and action if approved.

4. Please provide the source(s) of any gap between the current level of technology and the district's stated vision and goals.
